Today's message to you

Our research on 'Access to Justice'

- Older victims of abuse are not always central to the decision making process
- People need to give 'informed consent'
- People do not know about civil options
- Families do not necessarily want to criminalise the abuser

The project ethos:

Increasing access to justice options, Increasing Choice

The provision of a justice worker to:

- Provide information on civil, criminal and restorative options
- Ensure people are involved and have a voice in the process
- Support for up to 18 months
- Promoting equality of opportunity

Restorative approaches – in community contexts

Sarah's presentation:

- Criminal Justice – is the process worth the outcome?
- The value in exploring another approach.
- Our pilot- designed by communities.

'Crimes against, and abuse of, older people in Wales' research

- Limited options for older people who are not categorised 'high risk'
- A lack of understanding about options
- Building trust and befriending
- Taking ownership and empowerment
- Choice offers an early intervention on justice options for low – medium risk people
- The justice worker ensures informed choice

Phases of the Project

- Phase 1: Local and national awareness raising
- Phase 2: Design a new justice model in each of the two pilot areas (Cardiff and Carmarthen)
- Phase 3: Deliver and evaluate the new justice models alongside civil and criminal remedies
- Phase 4: Share learning locally, national internationally

Dewis Choice

Phase 1: Awareness Raising

What we have learnt from our research and our partners:

Phase 2: Taking local ownership of justice options and encouraging empowerment – a new model of justice?

- Design a new restorative approach tailored to local service provision in each of the two pilot areas
- The use of role-play to test ‘the journey’

Dewis Choice

Phase 3: Delivery of the New Model

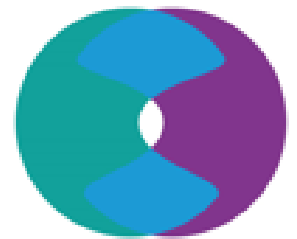

- Delivery of the intervention involving criminal, civil and restorative options will begin May 2016 in Carmarthenshire
- Referrals are made via the existing social services infrastructure
- A detailed risk assessment will be carried out before the intervention gets underway

Phase 3: Evaluation of the New Justice Model

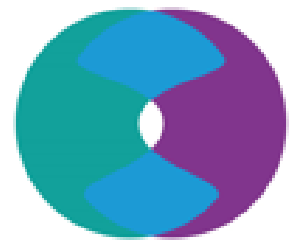

- Seek the views of the older person
- Explore the older person's decision-making process
- Evaluation of the process and outcomes of the new justice model

Dewis Choice

Phase 4: Share the Learning

- Share our learning with practitioners and the public
- Produce a training package for practitioners
- Disseminate work at selected conferences and community groups
